++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy with outbreaks of rain at times, generally mild.

Today:
Fog patches and low cloud lifting to give some brightness in the east, although a band of rain soon arrives in the west, this reaching eastern counties by the afternoon. Brighter skies following later for Devon and Cornwall. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Evening rain soon clearing eastern counties, then a drier interlude before more rain moves in from the southwest later in the night. Mild, but generally quite windy. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Saturday:
Cloudy with outbreaks of rain, some heavy, affecting much of the region for most of the day. Winds easing down later in the day. Mild, especially in the far southwest. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Sunshine and showers on Boxing Day. The potential for some more persistent rain for a time on Monday, and also quite windy, then more rain likely during Tuesday.
